

A Lady of Darkness Novel

Show me your darkness, and I'll show
you mine...

A woman with long, straight white hair is seen from behind, wearing a black, long-sleeved, off-the-shoulder dress. She stands in a dark, misty forest with gnarled trees. To her right is a large pile of human skulls. The overall atmosphere is dark and mysterious.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS FROM THE AUTHOR

Thank you to my readers for falling in love with Scarlett, Sorin, and everyone in their world from the very beginning. Your comments, messages, and excitement for more filled my cup so much. Writing and publishing is hard, and those sweet words would come at the perfect time to remind that it is all worth it in the end.

A big thank you to Megan Visger for being amazing and reading through drafts to catch the things I miss when editing at all hours of the night. You are a gem, my friend, and one I am so incredibly grateful for.

Thank you to my husband for putting up with late nights of editing and for letting me retreat to my happy place when I'm writing and working out story lines and plot issues; and a big thank you to my family and friends who have encouraged me from the very beginning. To the people who stepped out of their normal reading genres and read Lady of Darkness simply because I wrote the dang thing, that kind of love is beautiful, and I'm humbled and grateful to claim you as part of my tribe.

Thank you to the Melissa's Nook and Posse reader's group. Many of you have been with me from the very beginning, long before I started writing a book. You know my history, and have uplifted me through the darkness and the shadows. The support and encouragement you all give me every single day is nothing short of amazing. Thank you.

For Lindsey Leigh, Megan Bollman, and Chelsay Tysver-Thank you for helping me battle my shadows and find their beauty when the stars went out.
